50:50 VISION

2022 has in many ways felt like a step backward for women. We have seen intensifying oppression of women's rights in Iran and Afghanistan, mass displacement of women and girls in the global South due to climate change, and troubling restrictions on fundamental freedoms like reproductive rights in the United States.

SHE Changes Climate was set up in October 2020, when we saw that women leaders were excluded from the original COP26 team. One simple, straightforward, and powerful goal – an equal seat at the table when it comes to climate solutions. 50:50.

In 2022, we have continued to work towards a 50% representation of women, in all their diversity, at the top level. COP27 in Egypt did not reach even 25% of senior women negotiators, a failure which has cost us another year of progress.

In 2023, SHE Changes Climate is pushing for a female Co-President at COP28 in the UAE. We have the determination and the tools to bring this vision to life.

SHE CHANGES CLIMATE FILM

On 8 March 2022, Women's Day, SHE Changes Climate released a short film. This film was created in partnership with Clim8, Earth Minutes and Visionary Pictures. The film captures seven powerful voices that address the importance of a gendered narrative in climate change, leadership, indigenous rights and scientific research.

Your Excellency,

We congratulate President El-Sisi on the representation of women within his government. We therefore respectfully request equal and visible representation of women leaders in the COP27 Presidency team.
We also ask for a transparent decision process at the highest level to show that women's perspectives have been considered in the final decisions on climate negotiations. Diversity and inclusiveness are

From April 2022 leading up to COP27, SHE Changes Climate worked diplomatically with the Egyptian team to support the women leaders within the presidency, building trust with the high-level Climate Champions and directly with the Egyptian Minister of Environment, Dr Yasmine Fouad, and the President of Egypt's National Council for Women, Maya Morsey.

At COP27 SHE Changes Climate had a bilateral meeting with a network of 20 women ministers from Egypt and broader Africa.

ON GENDER DAY (NOV 14), SHRISTI AND ELISE PUBLICLY HANDED OVER THE SHE CHANGES CLIMATE OPEN LETTER TO DR YASMINE FOUAD.

SHE CHANGES CLIMATE IN 2023

IN 2023, COP28 WILL BE HOSTED IN THE UNITED ARAB EMIRATES. SHE CHANGES CLIMATE HAS BEGUN OUR POLICY WORK THAT IS BOTH TOP-DOWN ADVOCACY ON THE INSIDE AND BOTTOM-UP MOBILISATION ON THE OUTSIDE. WE HAVE CONNECTED WITH THE POTENTIAL COP28 PRESIDENCY MEMBERS IN THE MENA REGION AND WITH GRASSROOTS ORGANISATIONS LIKE THE RALLYING CRY. THE RALLYING CRY IS AN ORGANISATION, BASED IN DUBAI, ACCELERATING FINANCE FOR WOMEN IN AFRICA.
